

End of July product release report

Due to a major scheduling exercise currently in progress, it is not appropriate to produce an end of July product release report, since almost all the information would be undecided subject to the scheduling process completing.

The next product release report will be produced at the end of August in the normal way.